

DON BERNSTEIN PICTURES produces video and still imagery for business communications applications, marketing, public relations, advertising, investor relations and governmental affairs. Our clients range from small business owners to Fortune 100 companies. We help you inform and persuade, with media designed and produced to convey your message. From business portraits to spotlight video clips, we work to craft a customized solution to your communications challenge.

Don Bernstein has more than 25 years of experience producing imagery and video of technically complex products and processes in aviation, air-traffic control, communications systems, scientific research, defense electronics and environmental services. He excels at producing spotlight features about events, people at work, executive profiles, voice of the customer interviews and product usage.
